

Shannon Harvey-Renner

A seasoned public service professional with over 35 years of experience in local government including human resources and labour relations at the most senior level, occupational health and safety, community recreation, and facility management. Expertise in labour relations, recruitment, collective bargaining and collective agreement administration, policy development, manager coaching and support. After 23 years, Shannon retired from her role of Director, Human Resources with the Township of Langley in May 2023.

Since then, and in between curling and cycling, she now dabbles in HR consulting where she enjoys working one on one with managers to provide assistance and coaching with difficult situations, developing and delivering training for managers, establishing strategies for dealing with sensitive labour relations and investigation matters and drafting and researching policies and procedures.
